

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method, and associated apparatuses and software programs, which makes it possible to manipulate, for example to recall or to replace, a first message, preferably sent using a mobile radio system and/or the Internet, in particular a multimedia message, preferably of the MMS type, using a second message sent at a time after the first message. This increases the user friendliness for the users of such systems.

20140201 20140201